TR7 Pendant

Description

Where it all began. The TR7 was one of the first lamps that Tom Rossau developed, in his continued strive for sculptural illumination.

The slim shape of this lamp is ideal for corner placement, which has made it a true winner for architects and interior designers alike.

The closed shade of the TR7 encapsulates the light sources and provides an indirect light independent from the choice of the material. The TR7 lamps have a sculptural and organic expression, as much when unlit as when they radiate light.

The TR7 is also available as a table and floor lamp.
